

While it is admirable that the FCC is taking up this issue, it is very important that it does not lessen or undermine the strength of the Indiana No Call rule. Many of my neighbors have seen a 50-90% reduction in unwanted telemarketing calls, while creating no drop in their ability to find goods and services.